VISITORS

- A. Matt Steffy, Parks, Art, Recreation & Culture Needs Assessment

Matt Steffy presented a PowerPoint presentation. He reported the PARC (Parks, Art, Recreation & Culture) Committee is a small group that represents many users that are involved in recreation. The city staff includes the City Manager, City Planner, and the Community Recreation Coordinator that provide structure and keep the committee on task. They are meeting once a week with the RFP (Request for Proposals) as the first step.

During budget hearings in December there was a large voice representing arts and culture. In Homer we lag behind in the idea of combining parks and recreation together; most communities share staff and funding. It is more common in communities to have arts, culture, and recreation services together. We need to know what the broad spectrum is for recreation. There are a lot of activities that fall in the broad range of activities. The intent of the assessment is to assign values and figure out the frequency of the varied activities.

The PARC mission statement is "To determine the resources and prioritize the needs for our community concerning parks, arts, recreation, and cultural programs and facilities." It is a ten to fifteen year outlook.

PARC Assessment Goals

1. What are the existing and potential PARC resources in our community?
2. What programs and facilities does the community want?
3. How big is the gap between what we have, and what we want?
4. What are future trends? Will look to user groups.
5. Quality of life: how important are PARC activities to Homer's quality of life?
6. Funding: How could new programs and facilities be paid for? User fees, borough-wide wide?

Goal Summary:

- What do we do with our spare time?
- What would we like to do with our spare time?
- What are the barriers to accessibility?
- How important is this?

Timeline:

- Pending further input and review:
- RFP out by early April
- Proposals reviewed by PARC Committee
- Timeline for completion, 1 year or less

The next Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission meeting is Thursday, March 20 at 5:30 p.m.

B. Keren Kelley, Executive Director, Homer Senior Center

Keren Kelley, Executive Director of the Homer Senior Center (HSC), reported the HSC has been here for 40 years operating as a nonprofit sustainable senior center.

Services of the HSC include:

- 45 independent senior housing facilities, some mandated for low income
- A 45-bed assisted living facility, recently revamped
- Adult services day program
- Provide meals to the community for 55 and over, served almost 20,000 meals last year
45% of people dine in; 55% are home delivered meals
- Fund a transportation service
- Provide meeting space for 11 agencies (AARP is currently doing tax preparation for the entire community, not just seniors)

These services keep seniors in the community and help to keep their children here. The HSC receives 16% of their budget in State funding; other funding is through user fees. With utility rates skyrocketing, the HSC is asking for the City's help with the anticipated $500,000 for natural gas conversion costs. The project is on the Capital Improvement Plan (CIP) at the state level, but the City does not contribute anything.

The HSC supports the community with annual expenditures of $1.7M. This includes employing 38 people, expending funds for city water and sewer, fuel oil, Homer Electric, and local vendors and contractors. They are homegrown and are doing everything as community oriented as they can.

Councilmember Zak asked how many volunteer hours were logged over the last year. Ms. Kelley answered the Senior Center has over 300 volunteers who generated over 44,000 hours. Activities reach all gammas. They serve very active seniors up to people with Alzheimer's. They provide family caregiver programs through volunteers, educating the community on how to help take care of seniors. HSC provides respite care to senior caregivers and a financial planning preparation course.

Councilmember Burgess questioned the high cost for the natural gas conversion. Ms. Kelley noted the costs are due to the age of the four 6-plexes that require individual boilers. The State wanted to include the Senior Center and the Assisted Living Facility. Due to the recent power outages they are putting pressure on the Senior Center to get a generator. They would like to have a continuous funding stream from the City such as in-kind water and sewer or some other option.

ANNOUNCEMENTS/PRESENTATIONS/BOROUGH REPORT/COMMISSION REPORTS

A. Borough Report

Bill Smith, Kenai Peninsula Borough Assemblyman, reported he spent a week in Washington, D.C. at the National Association of Counties Legislative Conference. Topics of discussion included the invasive waterweed Elodea and spruce bark beetle invasion.

Many national forests have become fire hazards due to dead timber. There is a possibility of additional financial assistance for spruce bark beetle mitigation; $16M was previously allocated for mitigation. The right-of-ways and power lines need protection.

There has been a lot of work on MAP-21 (Moving Ahead for Progress) funding surface transportation programs. The State hopes to receive authorization to receive funding. There is a push to increase the federal fuel tax that would provide money to fix roads. Alaska has the oldest unchanged tax rate in the country, since 1964. The current federal tax is equivalent to one cent per gallon, used for highway repairs.

There has been a lot of work with runoff issues. The EPA passed some laws that have slowed down some storm water control issues.

In the upcoming federal budget there are three big drives: Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid; they are not likely to change since this is an election year. There are flood insurance rate increases to provide for FEMA disaster assistance. Unfortunately, the high insurance rates paid do not compare to FEMA reimbursement. Flood insurance rate increases could be disastrous for homeowners; there is a movement in Congress to try to figure out how to mitigate costs nationwide.

The Borough allocates a modest amount of money to senior centers across the borough.

The Borough continues to put a budget together; there will be no change in property assessments from last year. Some assessments may be lower.

B. Commissions/Board Reports:

1. Library Advisory Board

Library Advisory Boardmembers Phil Gordon and Larry Slone reported on attendance and circulation statistics for the library. This year, both adult and children attendance has increased and circulation of books, media, and digital materials are up. The library is working well. The LAB is conducting a study to present to Council. They may be asking for a temporary summer assistant.

Two new members joined the Board for the March 4th meeting. They discussed the handicapped parking area on the north side of the library that has an ongoing problem with icing. It is no simple issue and the LAB will follow up on that. One resolution may be a wooden cap over the walkway.

A new concept called value impact assessment is proposed by Michael Haines. Mr. Haines will be promoting and developing a team of library personnel who have a library background. The assessment will measure the value of the library as an intangible and qualitative asset to the community. The library continues to attract new people, including retirees. The library retains highly qualified personnel. The value impact assessment has never been applied in Alaska or the rest of the United States. It would be good to dovetail with the PARC needs assessment.

2. Homer Advisory Planning Commission
3. Economic Development Advisory Commission

Lindianne Sarno, Economic Development Advisory Commissioner, reported on the long term goals of the commission. Since 80% of new jobs are generated by existing businesses, they are encouraged to expand to bring in young, intelligent, and educated families to balance Homer's retirement community. Families are attracted to Homer for the quality of life that includes arts, library, schools, culture, recreation, healthy outdoor activities, trails, and elder care. The commission has invited Mike Illg to talk to them about the economic implications of the HERC building. The commission supports the Kachemak Drive Bike Path that will make a loop out to East End.

The EDC will be sending out a questionnaire called "Are You an Internet Based Entrepreneur"? It will provide a better idea of how to support those businesses.

Commissioner Sarno has been researching ocean acidification that is killing scallops by the millions and reducing the tiny shrimp population that make up 40% of the diet of pink salmon. It is alarming for us here, but there is hope for a remedy in biochar. It is a way to take the tinder out of the forests and turn it into charcoal by burning it in a closed system unit. Once you have charcoal it is crushed and soaked in a biological solution. That solution could be compost in tea, manure, or urine. A piece of charcoal the size of a pencil eraser has 1,000 to 2,500 square meters. It is then put into the soil and the soil's ability to hold carbon increases expedientially. We can start a tremendous cottage industry and make our own contribution to reducing global warming. This process is outlined in the book Biochar Solution by Albert Bates.

Councilmember Zak commented on the importance of the Kachemak Bay Research Reserve and PERS and TERS funding.

4. Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission

Robert Archibald, Parks and Recreation Advisory Commissioner, reported they now have a full commission with the appointment of Mr. Roedl. They still need a high school student as a non-voting member. There is a diverse crew working on the PARC needs assessment. Mike Illg has been busy with lots of activities and has put together the new spring/summer recreational activity guide.

Karen Hornaday Park improvements are moving along in high gear. The new pavilion will be completed this year. Drainage is still an issue at the park. Grant money will provide for access to the western upper ball field. A revised master plan for the park has been submitted by Jack Wiles. After the PRAC reviews the plan they will bring it before Council. The safety of pedestrians on the roadway is a big concern. A divided area for pedestrians would be helpful. The commission discussed the Land Allocation Plan and hopes all of the land designated for public use will stay that way. The commission will request reducing the speed limit near Jack Gist Park and Cottonwood Horse Park to 35 mph. The current 45 mph speed limit makes it difficult to maneuver horse trailers and there is limited vision at the Jack Gist Park entrance.

Volunteers have spent hundreds of hours beautifying the city with flowers. New signage for the parks will be coming soon. The commission is looking at reducing their meetings while still being able to conduct their work and keep Council informed. He appreciates the staff for putting in all the time that they do.

5. Port and Harbor Advisory Commission

Port and Harbor Advisory Commissioner Steve Zimmerman reported the commission reviewed the Land Allocation Plan. They recommend that Lots 10, 11, and 12 not be put out for RFP. Those lots should be available for someone that wants to develop a haul-out facility instead of tied up in long term leases.

ORDINANCE(S)

CITY MANAGER'S REPORT

A. City Manager's Report

1. Memorandum 14-041 from Community and Economic Development Coordinator, Re: Citizens Academy Update Week 2.

1. Parks and Recreation Needs Assessment: The Committee working on the Needs Assessment is making excellent progress. Committee member Matt Steffy is a visitor on this agenda and will provide a progress report. The Parks and Recreation Commission is holding a special meeting on March 6 to hear a presentation as well. RFP is scheduled to go out the end of March. Attached is the Committee Mission Statement and RFP Goals, which I am sure Matt will go over.

2. Citizens Academy: The Citizens Academy will have completed the third session by the time you read this report. The Port and Harbor put on an excellent session which received outstanding reviews by the participants.
3. Critical Habitat Legislation: The legislation that would remove the Homer Port and Harbor from the critical habitat area has now been passed by both the House and the Senate. It is on the way to the Governor for his signature. Thanks to Speaker Chenault, Senator Micciche, and Representative Seaton for their effort and strong support. Also, thanks to Katie for all of her background work and coordination and to Linda Anderson for all of her important work in Juneau on this legislation.
4. Traffic Calming: As you know, there is great interest in some neighborhoods about traffic calming. As I reported earlier, the Planning Commission has taken a real interest in this topic and has agreed to take it on as a project. The Commission has begun its work. For those folks in the community who want to get involved, now is the time to get in on the ground level. Contact Planning staff if you want more information about the Commission work schedule on this topic.
5. Kachemak Bay Research Reserve Funding Threatened: A sub-committee of the House Finance Committee has removed $175,000 for KBRR that was included in the ADF&G Budget. This was not expected to occur this year. If this funding is not restored, it could threaten the federal matching funds and in a worst case scenario, close the Islands and Ocean Visitor Center. KBBR and that building are significant economic engines in Homer and many full time jobs are at stake. This issue has very rapidly become one of the City's top priorities in Juneau. Katie and Linda Anderson have spent significant time and resources on it during the past week. We would be happy to provide more information or discuss this in more detail at the meeting.
6. Intergovernmental Agreement with Kachemak City. The resolution approving this agreement is on this agenda. It was postponed until the Council had a chance to have a workshop on the topic; which it did at the last meeting. We originally postponed it to this date thinking it should logically follow the workshop at the next regular meeting. Although there was a lot of good discussion at the workshop, no real direction was given or course of action agreed to. I decided to keep this resolution on the agenda because it will provide Council with a vehicle to discuss how it wants to proceed, whether that be another workshop or something else. I do think it is important to get an agreement in place. Perhaps it is possible to separate this agreement from the larger discussion about the overall long term relationship between the two cities. It seems like one is a vital short term need and the other is a broad, far reaching discussion that will take some time.
7. Land Allocation Plan: The 4 PM meeting is a workshop on the Land Allocation Plan. We decided to do something a little different this year to address persistent complaints about the process in past years. Julie will tell you all about in. In short, we narrowed the number of commissions and committees that were consulted on this to the ones which have the most obvious stake or responsibility regarding how municipal land is classified and used. We also eliminated the joint workshop aspect of this meeting. The idea was to streamline the process and make it more efficient while still getting good input from advisory bodies.

8. Ron Drathman: As you know by now, former City Manager Ron Drathman passed away last week. A memorial service was held on March 5th at the Elks Club. The City was saddened to receive this news and sends its heartfelt condolences to the family and to Ron's many friends and colleagues. He will be missed.

City Manager Wrede reported he wrote a letter to the Legislature in support of HB152, the PERS bill. He declared his conflict of interest due to his participation in PERS. Because the lobbyist and Alaska Municipal League thought it was important to weigh in and the fact Council passed a resolution (14-014) in support of the appropriation, he wrote the letter. Although the resolution didn't cover termination studies, Council has talked about the burden it would be so he included it in the letter.

City Manager Wrede referenced the financial reports and supplement passed out by Finance Director Li.

A letter from the Legislature to the Mayor requesting that Homer participate in showcasing the city in Alaska: North to the Future was discussed. The publication comes out every five years and includes a vast account of information on the state. For the past couple of years there has been a section for municipalities to highlight themselves. Seward and Kenai have been highlighted in the past and this year they want to highlight just one city. It is a huge opportunity since the publication goes to every congressman and senator who in turn promotes it on their travels. The cost is $31,000 for a six-page display of the city. The book will be out there for five years. It is a good value and they need an answer by tomorrow. There are other municipalities that are lined up to do this.

Mayor Wythe added the concept was significant enough the money allocated to the Chamber of Commerce could be reallocated to the project, but we have already committed to the Chamber. It works out to $7,800 per year for advertising of this magnitude. She is constantly standing before every group saying the city is open for business and this could pass that message. We could partner with other groups to help with the contribution. It is an inexpensive means to stimulate the economy in Homer; the City's contribution will be the funds and staff time to prepare the feature article.

Council expressed enthusiasm as a new and added means of marketing the city. It was suggested that we find our demographic for the book and target that reader. City Manager Wrede will notify the party tomorrow and relay Council's support to move forward on the condition of an ordinance approving the expenditure. An ordinance will be presented at the March 24th meeting for the appropriation.

Representative Mike Chenault, Speaker of the House, and Senator Charlie Huggins signed the letter requesting that Homer participate in the North to the Future project series.

Representative Chenault knows the large initiatives on our table. The article will focus on the things we are trying to highlight, such as marine services. People will look at Homer when considering locations. Over and over we have wasted $31,000 on various things and it will be an opportunity to put Homer in a positive light; it is us saying who we are. If we do not start casting the image who we want to be today, five to ten years from now we won't be any more different than we are today.

Mayor Wythe acknowledged and expressed appreciation for five employees celebrating a combined 61 years of service.

Councilmember Howard reported the Citizens Academy met at the library last week. The circulation and visitation numbers at the library are staggering. The building is beautiful. The Human Resources presentation was enlightening and the IT presentation was mind-boggling. There are a lot of regulations and security to follow with a two man band and very little money. The next academy will be at Public Works. She senses a bit of rivalry between the departments since the Port and Harbor raised the bar. The citizens are definitely benefitting from the academy.

Councilmember Burgess urged people to write the Senators to continue funding for Kachemak Bay Research Reserve. People may inquire with the local Legislative Information Office to get contact information. At this time, $175,000 has been cut from Fish and Game budget. This amount is necessary to leverage almost $1M in federal funding for the Reserve and Islands & Ocean Visitor Center. This includes more than twelve local jobs. He hopes to see a resolution on the next agenda and strong opposition to cut funding. It is a big deal and we don't want to see the high intellectual and science based jobs go away.

At the recent Town Hall meeting Senator Micciche expressed his commitment to request funding for Kachemak Bay Research Reserve. Community and Economic Development Coordinator Koester and Lobbyist Linda Anderson have been spending a lot of time advocating for KBRR. The economic impact of removing the critical habitat for the harbor area could be wiped out by closing the KBRR and Islands and Ocean Visitor Center. Funding for KBRR was originally included in the Governor's budget. It was Sport Fish and Game that cut it out of their budget. Senator Micciche was not aware of the number of kids that come to Homer each year in the springtime to take part in activities offered by the Reserve. In April and May about 3,000 students travel to Homer for a series of low tides. There are only four research reserves in the country. It is a huge conduit for federal money for the community providing research specific to our local region.

When writing your Representatives do not start with "This is the stupidest thing you have done"; remember honey and flies.
