ANNOUNCEMENTS / PRESENTATIONS / REPORTS (5 Minute limit per report)

a. Worksession Report

City Manager Jacobsen described the mid-biennium budget process discussions during the worksession. Discussion included supplemental funding related to Medicare, water/sewer rates, and asset maintenance for the water and sewer system.

b. Committee of the Whole Report

Councilmember Aderhold commented that the committee of the whole meeting was one of the shortest on record. Discussion included:

Resolution 26-012, which states City positions in advance of the 2026 Winter Legislative Conference in Juneau. Council discussed a possible amendment associated with trawling and the substitution presented in the packet.

Ordinance 26-06, staff recommended that this ordinance be postponed indefinitely.

There was also a comment that the zoning code timeline has been updated since the print report was submitted for the packet, so there will be a second Planning Commission worksession on February 8th.

c. Borough Report

Assemblymember Cooper reported the following:

- KPB Assembly is also going through their budget process.
- KPB received 248,831 from the Opioid Settlement Grant Program. The application process will start soon and offer up to 8 grants of 31,000 each for opioid remediation purposes. To date, have received over 562,000 from nationwide settlements.
- It's been a cold, icy winter and sanding costs more than snow removal, so KPB has already expended its budget for winter roads maintenance. KPB Assembly will appropriate an additional 342,000 from the School Maintenance fund which will hopefully fund sanding and plowing through the end of the winter.
- The KPBSD School Board has also started their budget process and will present a proposed budget to the borough. Homer is having a local budget meeting for the School District tomorrow at 6 p.m., and the School Board will hold a budget worksession locally next week. The school board is facing down an $8 million deficit.
- KPB continues to work on telecommunications infrastructure. $2,045,000 was included in the federal appropriations bill to improve emergency response times and public communications support. The 25% local match that's required will be funded from ARPA funds awarded to the borough in 2022.

CITY MANAGER'S REPORT

- a. City Manager's Report

City Manager Jacobsen noted that her written report is in the packet and highlighted an upcoming event with the Alaska Department of Environmental Conservation's Brownfields lead to talk about the HERC Cleanup Project.

Councilmember Aderhold asked about the next steps for the tax foreclosure property. City Manager Jacobsen deferred to Community Development Director Engebretsen, who explained that the City Manager will sign a form and submit it to the Borough, then the Borough will calculate the back taxes owed on the land on the order of $2,000. The City will appropriate funds to pay that amount and go through a closing process with the Borough, and then the parcel will be City land.

Councilmember Parsons asked what accommodations would be available to the public at City Hall while the elevator is out of order. City Manager Jacobsen explained that during the roughly three weeks that the elevator is out of service, City staff will travel between floors to provide services to the public if someone enters the building on the wrong floor for the business they want to conduct.

Councilmember Davis asked whether the meeting about the HERC would include information on the $10M demolishing option laid out in the packet or whether new options would be presented. City Manager Jacobsen deferred to Community Development Director Engebretsen, who said that the presentation will talk about the results of the report, estimated demolition costs, and potential next steps for the community as well as other points to consider. The information will most likely be presented to Council at a later meeting.

The City Attorney left the meeting.

City Clerk Woodruff congratulated Deputy City Clerk I Scott Lynn who was just named Mr. Homer and will be representing Homer in the Winter Carnival Parade.

COMMENTS OF THE CITY MANAGER

City Manager Jacobsen named open positions with the City, and thanked Council and Mayor Pro Tem Erickson for a good meeting.

COMMENTS OF THE MAYOR

Mayor Pro Tem Erickson thanked everyone for a fun evening, and noted that it's been a few years since she chaired a meeting but it's actually been fun. This weekend is the Winter Carnival, last weekend there was a basketball tournament—go out and enjoy the sun whenever it peeks out!

COMMENTS OF THE CITY COUNCIL

Councilmember Venuti reminded everyone that the Winter Carnival parade is this weekend on Saturday the 14th, and may just be led by Scott as Mr. Homer. She noted that she'll be hosting Conversations with a Councilmember at the Library tomorrow, from noon to 1. She thanked the Police Department and noted that she had met incoming chief Michael Scanlon, and he's a good hire. She lives near the police station and always feels good when she hears the sirens go off because she knows they do a great job of protecting people. The Japanese Club presentation was wonderful, and showed how much they have learned and grown as a result of their travels. Glacier Quartet and Dave Webster have shows coming up at The Porcupine. She thanked staff for providing food for Council, and for feeding the Planning Commission at their recent meeting. A little food really recognizes how hard people work and can go a long way. Enjoy Valentine's day and tell everyone how much you love them. It's heart month, so take care of your heart and get checked out if you need to. South Peninsula Hospital has new technology thanks to a Rasmuson Foundation grant, so take care of yourself.

City Attorney Gatti, who had reconnected to the meeting while Councilmember Venuti commented, asked to speak, apologizing for disconnecting earlier when he meant to speak. He thanked Mayor Pro Tem Erickson for keeping things moving along and noted that many interesting issues were debated.

Councilmember Parsons said that this was by far the shortest meeting he had ever been a part of at the Council table, and thanked Mayor Pro Tem Erickson for guiding the Council through the agenda. He noted that it reflects well on the effort of staff and the support of the City Manager and City Clerk.

Councilmember Aderhold thanked Mayor Pro Tem Erickson for taking the helm for an evening. She said that she's looking forward to the Winter Carnival parade and going down to Juneau next week to attend the Alaska Municipal League and meet with legislators about Homer's Priorities.

Councilmember Davis joked that Mayor Pro Tem Erickson is hired! As far as he is concerned, this was a great meeting. Thank you.
