

Homer Public Library 2022 Annual Report

Hundreds of people turned out for a memorial service for Duffy Murnane on June 12

- Jan. 1: All normal library services are available, though masks are still required in the building. The balance in the Library Endowment Fund stands at $38,740.34. Paintings by Briana Hume are on display in the fireplace lounge through the end of March.
- Jan. 10: The library begins offering wireless hotspots for checkout.
- Jan. 30: AP Literature students at Homer High School contribute the first-ever student submission to Reading Between the Lines on KBBI.
- Feb. 4: South Peninsula Amateur Radio Club (SPARC) presents

The year began with COVID finally waning, but things never slowed down in the library. Four major topics dominated 2022.

In the spring, staff and the public discussed reorganizing City offices, including combining the library and IT divisions into a new standalone department. Towards the end of the year, the public debated a petition to remove LGBT-related titles from the children's and young adult collections. The Friends of Homer Library (FHL) moved forward with upgrading the trail and outdoor facilities on the western part of the library lot, holding placemaking workshops in March and May, developing three designs by August, conducting open houses and a survey in October, and narrowing the proposals down to one by early 2023. Finally, the library saw extensive maintenance issues throughout the year, including problems with the roof, sprinkler system, HVAC computer, front-door wheelchair switch, boilers, siding, carpeting and furniture.

The library staff, FHL and LAB put forward enormous effort during this period, much of it unpaid. I wish to extend my personal gratitude for their dedication, professionalism and spirit of giving, without which the institution could not function. Thanks are also due to the many community members who turned out in force to share their opinions, volunteer their time, and participate in the life of their society.

Thanks to a grant from the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS), the library purchased 10 wireless hotspots for circulation. The hotspots went live on Jan. 10, and nine of them were checked out within the week. The same grant also paid for upgrades to the library's Wi-Fi network, coming in 2023.

February

The South Peninsula Amateur Radio Club (SPARC) presented a plaque to FHL and their thanks to Teresa Sundmark, recognizing their support during COVID. Susan Jeffres collaborated with Coastal Studies for a three-day kitemaking program called Leap Into Science, culminating in a test flight on Bishop's Beach.

The Friends of the Library brought author Annie Boochever to Homer for three days of events based on her book Fighter in Velvet Gloves, a biography of Elizabeth Peratrovich. She led a workshop and community conversation at the library, visited the high school for an author talk, and met virtually with students at FLEX and Ninilchik school.

IT divisions as a separate department.

- Mar. 18: Friday Storytime resumes meeting in-person.
- Mar. 20: Staff from the Rivers, Trails and Conservation Assistance (RTCA) program meet with FHL and community groups to further develop plans for the trail on the western lot.
- Mar. 25: Teacher Ted Carter presents a program about African-American troops who helped build the Alcan Highway.

March

Regular in-person programs resumed during March, including Spanish-language Storytime, Friday Storytime and Lunch With a Councilmember. The LAB and City Council voted to adopt new rates for printing and photocopying. February also saw the launch of a new library program, the Teen Advisory Board, which gives adolescents the chance to advise library staff on purchases and programming for the young adult section.

The city manager and department heads met with Council for a two-day retreat to set priorities for the City government, including possibly reorganizing the City's administrative structure. The proposed structure would split the Library and IT Divisions off from Administration and combine them into a standalone department.

April

For the first time since before COVID, FHL put on a full-sized book and plant sale, complete with auctioning off an eight-foot by eight-foot ficus tree.

The Celebration of Lifelong Learning featured a number of stellar performances and talks and wrapped up with a trivia contest. There was live music, flowers, poetry and a scene from The Importance of Being Ernest. Congratulations to Neviyah Reed, Olivia Glasman, Don McNamara and Donna Rae Faulkner, the awardees for 2022!

- Apr. 29-30: Friends of the Library Spring Book and Plant Sale.
- May 6: Hannah Clipp and Joel Such, the 2022 Schantz Scholars, come to the library to present the results of their bird research in partnership with the Kachemak Bay Shorebird Festival.
- May 14: The bookmobile visits the Safe and Healthy Kids Fair, launching registration for the summer reading program.
- May 15-Jun. 15: What Do You Do with a Tail Like This?, by Steve Jenkins and Robin Page, is on display on the StoryWalk®.
- May 17: Jessica Golden begins working as a Temporary Library Aide. The LAB continues discussing the citywide reorganization plan and its impact on the library.

- May 31: Sam Nofziger describes the experience of climbing Denali.
- Jun. 4-Jul. 30: Summer reading program in the library includes the summer reading challenge, wildlife bingo and the Homer scavenger hunt, among many other programs.

May

The Safe and Healthy Kids Fair signed up 95 families for the summer reading program and roughly 150 kids went through the bookmobile, while staff and FHL volunteers provided music and activities. The bookmobile visited a number of schools in May, including Chapman, McNeil Canyon, Little Fireweed, Big Fireweed, West Homer, Voznesenka and Paul Banks.

Council approved a resolution adopting a revised Facility Use Policy. The LAB continued discussing the proposed citywide reorganization; members of the public presented testimony and boardmembers contributed their thoughts in writing.

City Parks staff installed the first two Little Free Libraries, which now stand in five parks and outside the library building. Funded by a grant from the IMLS, the libraries are partly stocked by library donations, partly by donations to the Parks Division, and partly by patrons dropping off materials in the cabinets.

June

On June 12 the library hosted a memorial service for Duffy Murnane, including the dedication of a bench in her honor on the library grounds. Two hundred and twenty-five people attended in person, with a further 500 online. Community members raised funds for the bench, made by local artist Brad Hughes.

The summer reading program swung into high gear, with virtual author visits, crafts and games, scavenger hunts and Ruger the Reading Dog.

- Tuesdays, Jun. 7-Aug. 2: Outdoor adventures with the Center for Alaskan Coastal Studies.
- Jun. 12: Installation of the Duffy Memorial Bench on the south side of the library.

July

The Alaska State Library granted Homer $7,000 to purchase books and materials. Two new vending machines arrived, replacing the aging coinboxes at the print stations.

The July 4 parade featured the bookmobile and a procession of Friends of the Library volunteers. The summer reading program carried on with geocaching, coding, LEGO activities, more author visits, s'mores and storytime on the beach, and a blowout end-of-summer party.

The library director received a petition to remove the LGBT materials from the children's and young adult collections, but declined to act on it.

August

Equipment failures dominated the agenda in August. The HVAC computer died, leaving the building with no hot water and the ventilation running continuously. An airflow valve in the children's room stuck in the closed position, leaving the room frigid. The wheelchair switch on the front door broke (again). A roofer examined the library but suggested only the original manufacturer could make permanent repairs. Maintenance staff heroically replaced or repaired all kinds of equipment, but the trend towards increasing breakdowns is ominous.

September

The library received $8,058 from the Alaska State Library to replace the microform reader. The staff, Friends and LAB debated whether to adopt a formal policy on collaborations between the library and charity groups, but chose to stick with informal guidelines for the moment.

Public events packed the calendar. The fall book and plant sale led to an ongoing summer plant sale to match the permanent, ongoing book sale. The Alaska World Arts Festival provided four poets for a reading. Local authors Richard Chiappone and Tom Kizzia discussed their writing process in a video recorded for Alaska Book Week. FHL partnered with the Chamber of Commerce to host a forum with the candidates for city council.

The library signed up with the Library Speakers Consortium, which offers two or three virtual author talks each month. Patrons can participate in the talks live, as well as viewing the recordings afterwards.

Belle (aka Regina Johanos) thrills young fans at Storytime on October 26

October

The Kanopy streaming video service went live at the beginning of the month, offering patrons a limited number of monthly video checkouts. The selection includes a range of movies and documentaries, as well as a special section for kids.

The Food for Kids and Teens program ceased distributing through the library and refocused on serving schools. FHL boardmembers facilitated two open houses about the western lot project and received excellent feedback from the general public. The Independent Living Center kindly gave the library a long-term loan on a book magnifier.

On Oct. 25, petitioners formally submitted their request to the city, asking the LAB to reverse the library director's decision and move LGBT titles out of the children's and young adult sections. Three days later, they provided a list of specific titles for reconsideration, which eventually grew to include 55 items.

- Nov.-Jan.: Members of the Library Advisory Board read through the 55 titles being challenged by petition.
- Nov. 9: Jessica Golden's last day as Temporary Library Aide.
- Nov. 15: The LAB hears public testimony on the petition.
- Nov. 28-Dec. 31: Giving Tree in the library entryway.
- Dec. 8: First Teens and Tweens Games Night.
- Dec. 21: Local author Madeline Veldstra reads her book, A Christmas Parade, as part of morning storytime.
- Dec. 31: The balance in the Library Endowment Fund stands at $42,460.95. The year ends with fireworks and optimism for 2023.

More maintenance issues: on Halloween, the library tilted 45° to starboard

November

Hackers repeatedly attacked the library catalog and knocked it offline several times. Going forward, the catalog will be moved to a third-party hosting service, which will also allow for faster software upgrades and reduce the burden on City IT staff.

The LAB meeting was almost entirely taken up with public testimony regarding the petition. Dozens of people spoke in person and online, and the written comments amounted to nearly 350 pages. The meeting ran five hours, with a 45-minute break in the middle. LAB members postponed a decision until Jan. 17, giving boardmembers two months to read all the material.

December

The library, FHL and the Voznesenka school began collaborating on a trial program to deliver books to students. The school designated a coordinator to reserve materials for classes and pick them up from the library, then return them when the checkout period is over. Students will only be able to use the books on school grounds.

Patrons once again demonstrated their generosity to the library. Through the giving tree, patrons donated 46 new books to the library and purchased $625 worth of gift certificates from the Homer Bookstore. The Library Endowment Fund raised $1,634.97 from donations during the month, plus matching funds from an anonymous donor.

Thank you!

Our deepest thanks to all those who supported the library over the past year. Many members of the public contributed their time, energy and money to guarantee the success of the institution. We here recognize those who donated to the library's long-term sustainability:
